PROSPECTUS

May 13-15, 2026
Florence, Italy

WELCOME LETTER

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the Local Organizing Committee, it is our great pleasure and honor to welcome you to the 17th European Symposium of Porcine Health Management (ESPHM), which will be held from 13 to 15 May 2026 in the beautiful city of Florence, Italy.

We are delighted to host colleagues from around the world in Italy for the most important European event devoted to porcine health management. Many of you will remember the 6th ESPHM held in Sorrento in 2014 – an edition still fondly recalled for its outstanding scientific content and unforgettable social programme. Inspired by that success, we are committed to making ESPHM 2026 an equally memorable and enriching event.

Florence in May offers an ideal setting: mild temperatures, blue skies, and an atmosphere full of art, history, and vibrant Italian culture. As the cradle of the Renaissance, Florence embodies Italian creativity, beauty, and inspiration – the perfect backdrop for a dynamic and insightful symposium.

Over the years, ESPHM has evolved into one of Europe's leading veterinary events, drawing a diverse international audience of veterinarians, researchers, industry professionals, and policymakers. The 2026 edition will carry on this proud tradition with a comprehensive scientific programme featuring world-renowned speakers, parallel sessions, roundtable discussions, and countless opportunities for networking and knowledge exchange.

The venue, Fortezza da Basso, is a historic landmark of Renaissance military architecture, conveniently located in the heart of Florence – just steps from the central railway station and close to the accommodations selected for the delegates.

We are confident that ESPHM 2026 in Florence will provide an outstanding scientific experience as well as a unique opportunity to immerse yourself in the rich artistic and cultural heritage of Italy!

We look forward to welcoming you to Florence and to sharing with you what promises to be an unforgettable symposium.

SUSTAINABILITY

Sustainability is a very important issue for the ESPHM Organizing Secretariat, which should be considered for both the current and the future editions of the Symposium. Some important actions have been taken in this regard and will be communicated in due time.

With this event, we would like to promote such a relevant value to all our stakeholders, including Sponsors. Therefore, we would like to offer you the opportunity to contribute through special initiatives which will be presented in this document.

HOW TO REACH FLORENCE

EASILY ACCESSIBLE AND QUICKLY REACHED

Florence is well-connected and accessible through various modes of transportation:

BY PLANE

The primary airport serving Florence is Amerigo Vespucci Airport (Peretola), located about 6 km from the city center. The T2 Vespucci tram line connects the airport directly to Santa Maria Novella (SMN) Central Train Station, with services running every 5 minutes and a journey time of about 20 minutes.

Alternatively, travelers can also use Bologna Guglielmo Marconi Airport or Pisa Galileo Galilei Airport, both well connected to Florence by train and bus services.

BY TRAIN

Florence lies on the main rail link between Milan and Rome, making it a key stop for high-speed trains. The city's principal railway station, Santa Maria Novella (SMN), is centrally located and serves regional, interregional, and international routes.

Florence is also connected to major international hubs such as Paris, Munich, and Geneva via high-speed trains. Frequent Frecciarossa, Italo, and EuroCity services ensure rapid connections to cities across Italy and beyond. Other important stations in Florence include Campo di Marte (near the stadium) and Rifredi.

BY CAR & BUS

If you're driving, be aware of the Zona a Traffico Limitato (ZTL), a restricted traffic zone covering much of the historic center. Unauthorized vehicles entering the ZTL may incur fines, but tourists can access accommodations or garages within the ZTL by providing their vehicle details within 3 hours of entry.

Florence is accessible via various intercity and regional bus services. The city has designated hubs for intercity buses, such as Terminal Vittorio Veneto and Montelungo, offering connections to destinations like Siena, Grosseto, and the Chianti region. Many intercity bus tickets also include access to local tram and bus lines.

USEFUL INFORMATION

GENERAL INFO

ELECTRICAL SYSTEM

The voltage in Italy, as in most of Europe, is 230V/50Hz.

Italy uses Type C (2-pin) and Type F (2-pin with grounding clips) plugs. Type C plugs are widely compatible with European sockets.

Most power sockets are designed for round-pin plugs. Common travel electronics with standard European two-pin plugs can be used without issues. Adaptors are available in most hotels.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE & BANKING FACILITIES

The official currency in Italy is the Euro (EUR).

British Pounds, US Dollars, and other major currencies can be easily exchanged at the following places:

- Banks
- Exchange offices
- Airports
- Major hotels

Exchange offices usually offer better exchange rates than banks. At airports, the rates may be slightly higher than in the city center.

The most commonly accepted payment methods are cash, credit cards, and debit cards. Credit and debit cards are widely accepted, with Visa, Mastercard, American Express, and Maestro being the most common. It's advisable to check in advance for any foreign transaction fees. Another option is contactless payment via Apple Pay or Google Pay.

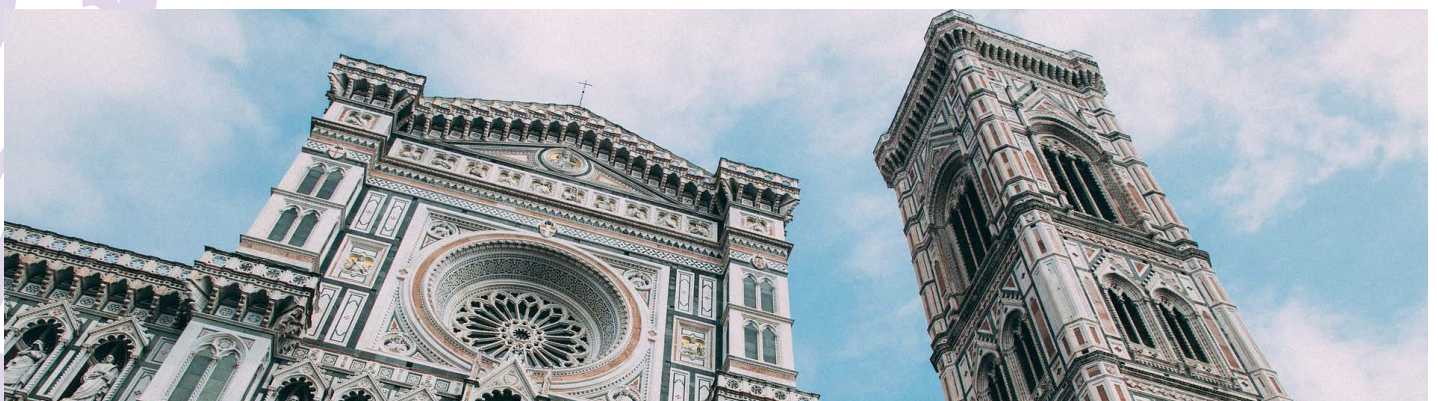

VISA REQUIREMENTS TO ENTER ITALY

EU citizens require only a passport or an ID card to travel to Italy.

Citizens who do not belong to the European Union or the Schengen Area need a Visa to enter and stay in Italy.

For the delegates who require VISA, the Symposium Secretariat will provide assistance.
